SHORTCUTS FOR SPECIFYING. f

Can you find what variables in the nycflights13::flights data have missing values and how many missing values they have?

SHORTCUTS FOR SPECIFYING. f

Can you find what variables in the nycflights::flights data have missing values and how many missing values they have?

```
nycflights13::flights %>% map_dbl(~ sum(is.na(.)))
                                               dep_time sched_dep_time
                   month
                                     day
     year 8255
                arr_time sched_arr_time
                                              arr_delay
dep_delay
                                                               carrier
     8255
                                                   9430
                    8713
   flight
                 tailnum
                                 origin
                                                   dest
                                                              air_time
                                                                  9430
                    2512
 distance
                                 minute
                                              time_hour
                    hour
```